Organizations usually have a mission that defines their core purpose, work, approach.

Some then have a vision that describes the desired future position.

Values can be core (current state) or aspirational.

Steering Committee direction:

- Crisp QC mission – strive for a brief statement that captures what we want students and others to understand is the reason to come to QC.
- Name values that distinguish QC – that QC will hold.
  - These could then correspond with institutional learning outcomes (what QC students uniquely learn and graduate with).
- Five-year goals – each working group will create an aspirational goal that acts like a vision statement.

Mission/Values Development Process – 2020-2021

Queens College Mission - DRAFT

The mission of Queens College is to prepare all students to serve as a new kind of leader in a diverse world that they make more equitable and inclusive.

We do this by recognizing every student's potential and facilitating opportunities to achieve it. We guide students to determine a desired path forward that is in service to the ways they define their community or communities. We prepare students as undergraduates and graduates through rigorous academics and support so that each student completes their course of study and finds the right next step after graduation.

We take an aspirational yet practical approach to liberal arts and professional education: engaging students in learning, knowledge creation, and cocurricular activities that broaden their minds while giving them tangible skills to succeed in careers and life.

Queens College Values - DRAFT

We seek to embody these values and instill them in our students.

Learn that we may serve. This is our motto. We educate all students to live a life of service in their careers and communities. We seek to model that in the way we serve as faculty members, staff, administrators, and as an organization.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion. We believe our college and society benefit when we consistently and intentionally strive to become more diverse, equitable, and inclusive in how we think, treat each other and function. See our working definitions for these terms (LINK).

A new kind of leadership: We view leadership as a mindset and practice, not a status. We practice leadership at the college and as members of many, diverse communities with which Queens College and students, faculty, and staff identify. We believe in changing notions of who can be a leader, from a select few to everyone. We recognize practicing leadership is a unique process for each individual where some people are more comfortable with the title "leader" than others.

Well Rounded education. We want our students to be curious, resilient and adaptable once they leave us. At the undergraduate and graduate levels, no matter the major, we offer core skill development in key areas such as writing, math, and logic while also offering specialized education. We encourage minors and interdisciplinary double majors. We recognize the more well rounded the education we offer, the more career options, extra marketable skills and often higher pay our students will have. This enhances their abilities to make conditions better for their communities.

Connecting scholarship and creativity with the student experience. At QC, we value the many contributions our great scholars and researchers make in the world. We recognize engaging in knowledge creation efforts makes faculty better teachers. Our unique approach connects back to students. By emphasizing student engagement in knowledge creation - in the classroom, in the lab, and in the community - we know students gain multiple benefits, from better learning outcomes to exposure to potential careers they might not otherwise experience.

6. Anthropology

Proposal for the Establishment of a Minor in Cultural Heritage & Memory Department of Anthropology, School of Social Sciences

Rationale:

Many students in Anthropology are interested in cultural heritage, museums, and how people make sense of and recall the past. The Minor in Cultural Heritage and Memory is designed for students who are interested in the ways the past is remembered and activated in the present, sometimes as a mechanism to construct narratives and make political or legal claims about community and/or national identities. The Minor also examines culturally shaped forms of remembering and commemoration. It is particularly ideal for students interested in law and policy, development, museum studies, archives, cultural preservation, material culture studies, and the arts. The courses in the Minor will provide training for students interested in how the past is recalled and represented as well as the ethical dilemmas of commemoration.

The Minor in Cultural Heritage & Memory consists of three required courses designed to give students a foundation in anthropological approaches to the past, heritage, commemoration, and memory. Students must select one 100-level introductory course from 101: Introduction to Cultural Anthropology; 103: Introduction to Archaeology; or 104: Language, Culture, and Society. Students must also select either 201: Essentials of Cultural Anthropology or 240: Essentials of Archaeology as well as one of the core courses of 252: Historical Archaeology; 258: Cultural Property, Heritage & the Law; or 332: Anthropology of Memory. THE MAJORS

ACCOUNTING MAJOR

The department offers courses in accounting, information systems, business law, and taxation for accounting majors and other students. Accounting majors may prepare themselves for a career in public, private, or governmental accounting, or for the teaching of accountancy in secondary schools. There are two alternative tracks to the accounting major, depending on the career objectives of the student:

Accounting Major- CPA Exam Track: This program is targeted to students looking to obtain licensure as CPAs and pursue careers in public accounting or in senior financial roles in industry, government or not-for-profit entities. The CPA Exam Track meets educational requirements to sit for the CPA exam in New York State. This program has a minimum GPA requirement of 2.5 for courses in this track and a total of 63 credits.

Accounting Major - Business Accounting Track: This program targets students for careers in industry in financial accounting, managerial accounting and accounting operations. The Business Accounting Track does not meet educational requirements to sit for the CPA exam. Students completing this track are not eligible for entry to the Queens College Master of Science in Accounting program. This program has a minimum GPA requirement of 2.0 for courses in this track and a total of 40 credits.

Majors study a complex discipline concerned with and responsive to the changing economic, social, and legal institutional arrangements necessary to the functioning of modern societies. The functions of accountants encompass ever-broadening spheres of activity. Transactions occurring between an economic entity—be it a family unit, small business firm, complex corporate organization, government organization, nonprofit organization, or national economy—and its environment constitute the raw materials of accounting. These must be converted by processes of classification and analysis to meaningful data so that their effects on the entity being subjected to the accounting process may be measured, interpreted, and communicated.

Computerized systems are being used extensively in accounting applications, transaction processing, data analysis, and auditing. Computer applications are integrated into coursework. Courses in information systems, analysis, design, and implementation have been available since 1982.

The informational outputs of this process must meet the needs of various user groups in society. Among the users of accounting information may be internal decision-makers, owners, creditors, investors, workers, managers, economists, and representatives of government agencies.

The decision process, organization theory, communication and information systems, and theories are areas of interest and concern to students and researchers in accounting. Sophisticated mathematical models (especially with the development of computer science) are being used by accountants. Economic theory and analysis constitute basic tools for accountants. An understanding of the laws governing economic and financial relationships is essential. A knowledge of tax laws and procedures must be added to the accountant's store of information.

The department has a formal advisement program.

All majors are assigned a faculty advisor whom they must see as part of the major declaration process. Accounting majors must file a concentration form with their advisor, in conjunction with their declaration as a major, no later than their lower junior semester.

Students may not take courses before the required semester, nor are they permitted to register for any accounting course for which they have earned a grade less than C for the CPA Exam Track or C- for the Business Accounting Track, (including INC, WU, etc.) in the prerequisite course.

6. SEYS

f. New Course

SEYS 747: Multiple Literacies in English Language. 3 hr.; 3 cr.

Prerequisite Courses: Initial Certification, or 570.4 or equivalent

Course Description: This course focuses on curriculum issues related to writing and expression as mediated by the various conceptions of literacy among students and teachers in ELA classrooms. We will pay particular attention to the ways in which literacy, defined as social practice, is informed and mediated by students' identities. In addition to considering historical and political assumptions and functions of literacy in an increasingly globalized and digitized age, we will engage in our own explorations of a variety of rhetorical modes and critical literacies, as well as examine the benefits and challenges of broadening definitions of literacy in contemporary ELA classrooms. As we work toward developing culturally sustaining (Paris, 2012) curricula and pedagogies, we will also examine the contexts in which students develop identities as writers as well as which of students' multiple literacies (including digital, hip hop and/or home literacies, for example) are supported and/or excluded by "academic" conventions and other mainstream literacy practices in the current educational context of standardization and accountability.

Projected Enrollment: 15 – 20 students

Projected Frequency: Once per academic year

On-line Instruction: This course will be taught in person or hybrid, unless the College is operating remotely. The course instructor will have had prior experience teaching this course (since it has been offered for several years under a “variable topics” number If the College is operating remotely.

7. SEYS

g. New Course

SEYS 748: Contemporary Issues in English Language Arts. 3 hr.; 3 cr.

Prerequisite Courses: Initial Certification, or 570.4 or equivalent

Course Description: In this course, we examine contemporary discourse and practice around writing instruction in the secondary English Language Arts (ELA) classroom. School-based composition is often framed and assessed as a specific set of discrete skills that can be developed through decontextualized “best practices.” We will interrogate the assumptions about writing and literacy that sustain these practices and contextualize them within larger (settler) colonial projects. Ultimately, we will develop our own writing philosophies and associated curricular innovations and pedagogical moves.

Specifically, throughout this course, we will:

- Review the social, historical, and political contexts that shape contemporary approaches to standards-based writing instruction
- Investigate our assumptions about the writing process and our conceptions of “good” writing
- Explore the challenges, tensions, and possibilities of a decolonial educational framework
- Develop a range of creative, collaborative, and nontraditional approaches to standards-based writing instruction

Projected Enrollment: 15 – 20 students

Projected Frequency: Once per academic year

On-line Instruction: This course will be taught in person or hybrid, unless the College is operating remotely. The course instructor will have had prior experience teaching this course (since it has been offered for several years under a “variable topics” number If the College is operating remotely.

From: “The course is intended for students who are unable to read Spanish; ~~it is not open to students who have received credit for SPAN 204 or higher numbered courses.~~ (LIT)”

Justification: Since the class is conducted in English, there is no point to deny SPAN students taking SPAN 41.

2. FNES

Change to a Course: FNES 362 Nutrition for the Exercise Professional Clarification of Pre-& Co Requisites

From:

FNES 362. Nutrition for the Exercise Professional. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq. or coreq.: FNES 264, CHEM 103.3/103.1, BIOL 41.-The foundation of nutrition assessment and nutrition intervention across the life cycle and for diseases commonly encountered by the exercise professional.

To Read:

FNES 362. Nutrition for the Exercise Professional. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq. FNES 263, Prereq or coreq.: FNES 264, CHEM 103.3/103.1, BIOL 41. The foundation of nutrition assessment and nutrition intervention across the life cycle and for diseases commonly encountered by the exercise professional.

Justification: As a result of the recent dropping of the prerequisite of FNES 263 for FNES 264 in support of the Nutrition and Dietetics major, the Department must now add explicitly FNES 263 as a prerequisite for FNES 362. FNES 362 develops an in-depth understanding of nutritional assessment and intervention across the life cycle. As such, a basic understanding of nutritional processes and mechanisms of macronutrient utilization is required in advance, which would be achieved with FNES 263 as a prerequisite.

Exempted students will take a more advanced course instead.

Students with majors other than art concentrations may have the prerequisite(s) waived for an art course. The major in Art History requires 36 credits, plus a foreign language requirement. See the box on page 96 for the specific requirements for the major.

Transfer students who want credit toward the major in Art History must have taken courses equivalent to those required at Queens College. Requests for transfer credit for Art History courses will be evaluated by the department. Language courses will be evaluated by the appropriate academic department.

Design

The department offers a Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Design that prepares students for careers or graduate study in the rapidly evolving field of design. Students in the major learn visual communication using industry-standard technology across interactive, time-based, digital and traditional media. ~~Students have the option of pursuing a concentration in Communication Design, Interaction Design, or Animation and Illustration.~~ See the box on page 97 for the specific requirements for the major.

Transfer students who want to major in design must present a transcript, or a transcript and portfolio, to the Design faculty for evaluation. Except as specifically exempted by portfolio review, all transfer students must take ARTS 246, 345, and 395, along with four upper-division electives (ARTS 247 or higher) at Queens College. Up to 15 design studio credits may be transferred into the major. In addition, students may receive as many additional blanket studio credits as permitted by the BFA degree, which requires that at least 60 credits be in liberal arts.

Students who wish to major in Design must meet with an advisor prior to declaring the major. Admission requirements include a minimum overall GPA of 2.75 or approval by portfolio review. Program standards for satisfactory progress require students to maintain a GPA of 2.75 or better within the major and receive no grade lower than C in any requirements for the major. Students must pass a portfolio review while enrolled in ARTS 241 Design I to advance in the program. Students accepted into the major are asked to meet with an advisor once each semester to ensure adherence to major requirements. A laptop computer with the Adobe Creative Cloud software is required for students majoring in Design. Apple computers are highly suggested.

Photography and Imaging

The department offers a Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) in Photography and Imaging, which will prepare students in their pursuit of careers or advanced degrees in fine art, applied photography, and digital imaging. Students will be able to choose among a variety of courses in the practice of photography, including classes in traditional/analog and alternative processes, digital, and 2D and 3D scanning and printing, theory, history, and critical thinking. Students will graduate with a portfolio that can be used to further their careers in the field or apply to graduate school.

Transfer students who want to major in Photography and Imaging must present a transcript to the deputy chair for Photography and Imaging. They may be credited with up to 21 credits toward the major, including both studio art and art history courses. In addition, a transfer student may receive as many blanket credits in studio work as the deputy chair considers justified. All transfer students must take all required ARTS 300-level courses at Queens College. Students who wish to major in Design must meet with an advisor prior to declaring the major. Admission requirements include a minimum overall GPA of 2.75 or approval by portfolio review. Program standards for satisfactory progress require students to maintain a GPA of 2.75 or better within the major and receive no grade lower than C in any requirements for the major.

See Photography and Imaging section for course information.

Studio Art

The department offers a major in Studio Art leading to a ~~Bachelor of Arts in Fine Arts (51 credits in the major), as well as a more intensive Bachelor of Fine Arts (72 credits).~~ Both prepare a student for creative or professional work in various media.

The Fine Arts ~~focus (painting, sculpture, drawing, printmaking, ceramics, and photography)~~ gives a balance of theory and practice, an understanding of the intellectual and technical skills required in the fine arts, and preparation for a creative professional life as an artist.

All Studio Art majors must obtain at least a grade of C in each Studio Art course in order to have it count toward their major requirements. Also, Studio Art majors may not attempt to satisfy a department requirement more than twice, and credit will be given only once for the same course, unless otherwise indicated in the course description. ~~All Studio Art majors who intend to pursue the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree must apply to the department with a portfolio. The department schedules a review of portfolios once~~

~~each semester, shortly before departmental pre-registration, and students may apply at any time after their first semester as a major.~~

~~The BA with a Fine Arts concentration also provides part of the necessary background for the teacher of art in secondary schools (see the box on page 97).~~ Students in-terested in teaching Studio Art at the college level should apply for the BFA program and plan to attend graduate school in an approved Master of Fine Arts curriculum. Students planning to teach one of the design professions at the college level should apply for the ~~BFA program~~ and specialize in one of its areas by electing supplementary design and media courses and then attend an approved Master of Fine Arts program. (See the box on page 97 for the specific requirements for the majors.)

Transfer students who want to major in Studio Art or Art Education must present a transcript, or a transcript and portfolio, to the deputy chair for Studio Art. They may be credited with up to ~~15 credits toward the major, including both studio art and art history courses.~~ In addition, a transfer student may receive as many blanket credits in studio work as the deputy chair considers justified. All transfer students must take ARTS 350, 391, ~~and, for BFA students,~~ ARTS 392 at Queens College.

Majors Offered

Art History BA (State Education Code 02727), Studio Art BFA (State Education Code 82209), BA in Art Education, K–12 Teacher (State Education Code 26445), Design BFA (State Education Code 29049), Photography and Imaging BFA (State Education Code 40351)

Please note: Changes have been made in the Studio Art curriculum that affect the total number of required credits for BFA degrees (subject to approval). Students are advised to check with a Studio Art advisor prior to registering for classes.

The department offers major programs in four areas: Art History (BA), Design (BFA), Photography and Imaging (BFA), and Studio Art (BFA). The Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science programs provide training in their disciplines within the framework of a liberal arts curriculum, as does the more intensive Bachelor of Fine Arts program. It is assumed that further professional and scholarly pursuits may need to take place after graduation, according to the needs and objectives of the individual student.

Students majoring in art must fulfill the department requirements outlined below as well as particular prerequisites indicated in the course descriptions. They may apply to be exempted from taking a course required for the major by passing the examination in the course (in Art History) or by obtaining approval of a portfolio from the deputy chair for Studio Art. Exempted students will take a more advanced course instead.

Students with majors other than art concentrations may have the prerequisite(s) waived for an art course. They should, however, consult with a department advisor to ascertain the nature of course demands, and receive advice on what courses are best suited to their interests. They may then enroll in an appropriate course specified by the department.

Department Honors and Awards

The department offers the following prizes and awards: the Art History Prize; the Ayme Eichler Memorial Scholarship; and the Studio Art Prize.

THE MAJORS

All students pursuing a BFA in Studio Art are required to take ARTH 101 and 102, except that students who elect to become Studio Art majors after having taken ARTH 1 should take either ARTH 101 or ARTH 102 in addition. No more than 6 credits from these three courses may be applied to the BFA degrees in Studio Art. All courses of Photography and Imaging can be taken towards fulfilling Studio Art major and minor degree requirements. Students should be aware of course prerequisites and consult with an advisor if necessary.

Students planning to teach art in public schools are required—for certification in the State of New York and for licensing in New York City—to complete 51 credits in art plus prescribed courses in secondary education. Justification:

Both the Design (ARTGD-BFA) and Photography and Imaging (PHOTO-BFA) majors are 63 credits. For less confusion, Studio Art changed our major requirements for Studio Art (ARTS-BFA) from 72 credits to 63 credits. The Art Department is not eliminating the Studio Art (ARTS-BA) but there is no longer a need to offer an Studio Art (ARTS-BA). It is because the Studio Art (ARTS-BA) is 51 credits, only 12 credits less than the new change of Studio Art (ARTS-BFA) requirement. The basic courses, (Level 1) provide students with stronger theory and expose them to various artistic media before choosing a particular track of study. The tracks of study in ceramics, drawing, interdisciplinary art, painting, photography, sculpture provide students with the option of building skills within one specific area of Studio Art. The required and elective courses are listed clearly to avoid overwhelming confusion to degree work audits. The new change of Studio Art (ARTS-BFA) aligns more with current practices at peer institutions than the current Studio Art (ARTS-BA) degree. The Art Department wants to ensure that its graduates are prepared for today's job markets and further education.

Justification:

Queens College currently offers a BBA in Finance major with only one concentration, Corporate Finance. Finance is evolving quickly and is being greatly impacted by technology. There is a relatively new field in finance, Fintech, that looks at how technology can be used to provide financial services. Fintech is utilized to help companies, business owners and consumers better manage their financial operations, processes, and lives by utilizing specialized software and algorithms that are used on computers and smartphones. We propose to add a FinTech concentration to our BBA Finance major. Adding the FinTech concentration to our Finance Major will increase the choices of study for our students and provide training in a rapidly expanding field. Offering a Finance Major FinTech concentration would better prepare students for jobs in a variety of quantitative finance roles including: quantitative analysts, financial analysts, blockchain developers, compliance experts, and cybersecurity analysts. We expect the FinTech concentration to attract a large number of BBA students. In the first year, we expect enrollment in the FinTech concentration to be approximately 20 students, but we anticipate a greater demand, with enrollment rising rapidly over time.

The total number of credits in the BBA Finance- Fin Tech Concentration is 63. This is the same number of credits as the BBA Finance- Corporate Finance Concentration. To keep the same number of credits, Globalization and the Environment electives were eliminated from the FinTech Concentration. The justification is that FinTech is an interdisciplinary program. It requires both computer science and economics/business skills. Thus, students are exposed to different fields of study. Students in the FinTech concentration study crypto currencies and blockchain technology which are at the center of Globalization issues.

Unlike other BBA majors including the Finance Major Corporate Finance Concentration, students in the Finance Major FinTech Concentration will not be allowed to take Math 131 to fulfill the calculus requirement. They will take a calculus course from the following choices: MATH 141/MATH 151/MATH 157. Students in the Finance FinTech concentration need a more in-depth background in calculus to understand programming (MATH 111), machine learning (MATH 342W), and advanced econometrics (BUS 386 and ECO 387), all of which are part of the FinTech concentration.

Unlike other BBA majors including the Finance Major Corporate Finance Concentration, students in the Finance Major FinTech Concentration will have two computer science/data methods required courses. In addition to CSCI 48 Spread Sheet Programming, Finance Majors with a FinTech concentration will have to take a financial modeling spreadsheet programming course (BUS 356) or a more advanced computer science programming course (CSCI 111). Professionals in the FinTech field are expected to understand both finance and technology. The required computer science courses in the Finance Major FinTech concentration will help students develop knowledge and skills in computer programming and financial modeling spreadsheet programming needed for jobs in the field.

New Course – ECON 302 Blockchain and Money 3hr; 3 cr. Prereq.: ECON 301

Course Description:

Understanding exactly what a blockchain is, why it matters for business activities with emphasis on the financial sector. Blockchain's role as a decentralized distributed ledger is analyzed through use cases in technology, business, and enterprise products and institutions. Topics include the governance and regulatory issues surrounding blockchain's applications.

Justification:

This course is important for Finance majors in the FinTech concentration. It allows students to learn about the effects of technology in the rapidly evolving eco-system of fintech. The tools, theories and methods of economics are used to explore both permissioned and permissionless blockchains. The course will focus first on the big picture view of blockchain technology, i.e. how cryptocurrencies depend on it. It moves on to discuss the governance and regulatory issues surrounding blockchain's implementation and ends with an analysis of blockchain's effectiveness by examining various case studies.

5. BALA

New course:

BALA 101. Business and Society.

3 hr.; 3 cr.

An interdisciplinary study of the impact of business on individual and society. Students will explore relationships between people, business, and politics. Concepts in globalization, financial markets, ethics, diversity, leadership, and economics will be examined from an individual perspective vs. societal perspective. Students will receive a broad overview of business functions, including finance, human resources, marketing, and computer information systems.

Justification:

This course has been revised to satisfy the CUNY Pathways General Education requirements (Flexible Core for Individual and Society). The course proposal was submitted to Dr. David Andrew Jones, Special Assistant to the Provost for Curriculum, who assisted with the modifications. Since the revised course satisfies the General Education requirements, the prerequisite and limitation for BALA minor students is eliminated.

6. MATH

I. Changes to the Requirements for a Major or Minor

Proposal 1: Update requirements for Elementary Education Option.

FROM: (As approved by UCC in Nov 2020)

THE ELEMENTARY EDUCATION OPTION (CONCENTRATION CODE MATH-ELEM)

Required: MATH 119, 141–143 (or 151–152), ~~220~~, 231, 241, ~~509~~, 518 (or 618) and CSCI 12 or higher. ~~One additional math course~~ will be chosen with the advice and approval of the student's department advisor. At least twelve credits of these required and elective courses must be taken at Queens College. Each student must obtain a department advisor by the beginning of the junior year. A student pursuing this option is required to declare and complete a second major in EECE.

TO READ:

THE ELEMENTARY EDUCATION OPTION (CONCENTRATION CODE MATH-ELEM)

There is an additional requirement of three electives. A course may not be counted as both a required and an elective course. At least twenty-four credits of these required and elective courses must be taken at Queens College.

Electives: SOC 235, CSCI 48, CSCI 211, CSCI 212, CSCI 220, CSCI 240, CSCI 313, BUS 386, BIOL 330, PSYCH 323, or one relevant course not on this list (upon prior approval by your advisor).

Justification: This proposal improves the offering of our DSS concentration by reworking its four core courses to be united together using a common vision, notation and perspective such that the courses build off of each other and communicate with each other. The updated courses are in later proposals.*

II. New Courses

Proposal 3: Creation of MATH 209

MATH 209. Elementary Set Theory.

3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq.: MATH 122 or the equivalent.

The course will introduce some basic proof techniques, with no background in proof-writing assumed. Not open to students who are taking or have received credit for MATH 509 or 609.

Justification: Math majors who follow the Elementary Education option currently are required to take this 500-level class. We are creating a 200-level version that is also suitable for other math majors. This course is currently being taught; perhaps there will be demand for an additional section; we expect this will also increase retention of majors.

TO READ:

Students majoring in mathematics must choose one and only one of the following options: the pure mathematics option, the applied mathematics option, the data science and statistics option, the secondary education option, or the elementary education option.

Justification: We are changing bulletin language to be explicit that there is only one math degree – students may not earn two math degrees, say one in pure math and another in applied math.*

7. Psychology

New Psychology Course Proposal

PSYCH 255. Health Psychology. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq: PSYCH 101. This course examines how biological, psychological and social factors affect the health of an individual. This includes a comprehensive look at the prevention and treatment of illness, the relationship between the patient and practitioner, and the role of stress and coping on health. Medical research and the role of the Food and Drug Administration will be examined. Also, this course will cover the biology of chronic health issues and the psychological impact of living with them. Other topics include psychoneuroimmunology, alternative medicines, and acute illness. The COVID-19 pandemic and opioid crisis will be covered in depth, along with health disparities across racial and gender lines.

Justification:

This class would be a valuable addition to the psychology department's curriculum because it is a unique elective that exposes psychology majors to the interdisciplinary relationship between biology, psychology and sociology. Additionally, the psychology major is a common major for those who are interested in the medical and allied health fields, and a class like this intertwines the two topics together. It allows the students to develop another viewpoint to use when assessing the field of medicine. Moreover, this course can be cross disciplinary with neuroscience, FNES, and education majors.

8. English

Proposal 1: Change in course title and description

From: ENGL 201W. ~~Essay~~ Writing for Special Fields. 3 hr. plus conf.; 3 cr. Prereq.: ENGL 110 ~~or permission of the instructor~~. An intermediate expository writing course using forms and modes appropriate to various professions and disciplines. Special fields covered in the past have included medicine, law, business, computer science, teaching, psychology, music, art, and film. ~~Some sections of this course will be limited to students enrolled in the Business and Liberal Arts minor.~~

To: ENGL 201W. VT: Writing for Special Fields. 3 hr. plus conf.; 3 cr. Prereq.: ENGL 110. An intermediate expository writing course using forms and modes appropriate to various professions and disciplines. Special fields covered in the past have included medicine, law, business, computer science, teaching, psychology, music, art, and film. May be repeated for credit if the topic is different.

Justification: We would like to change the title of this course to reflect the types of writing that may be offered in this class; some sections of this class might not focus on formal essay writing but include other types of writing. Additionally, sections of this course are no longer limited to students in BALA because they now offer business writing under their own course number. Finally, this should be a VT course because if the topic is different then the course will cover entirely different material.

Proposal 2: New courses

ENGL 190. Reading as Writers. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq: ENGL 110. A course in the theory and practice of reading as a writer. By engaging with how writers approach texts when they read, students will explore the methodological approaches that frame writers' reading practices.

Justification: This new 100-level course will be included as part of our newly proposed writing minor for students who need—or opt to take—a course that focuses on reading practices that will help them with the writing they do in other courses.

ENGL 392. VT: Composing Digital Media. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq: B in ENGL 110 or 130. This variable topics course is an introduction to the tools and rhetoric necessary to compose for digital media. Platforms vary by section and may include podcasting, website development, video essays, data visualizations, or infographics. The focus is on practice, informed by theories of digital rhetoric. May be repeated for credit if the topic is different.

Justification: This new 300-level writing course will be part of our new writing minor but also available to English majors and minors as an elective. Increasingly, our graduates will be asked to write for and on digital platforms and mediums, and this course will explore different modalities of digital writing. This course is a critical component for the proposed new writing minor.

ENGL 398. Portfolio Workshop. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq: B in ENGL 110 or 130 and junior standing or permission of department. The course offers an intensive workshop experience on multimedia portfolios intended to represent the professional work completed throughout course work—including essays, creative writing, technical writing, grant writing, journalism, web content, videos, podcasts, data visualizations, and infographics. Intensive revision of portfolio elements will be informed by rhetorical analysis, theories of composition, digital humanities scholarship, and writing for various professions.

Justification: This course will be for students interested in thinking deeply about revision and how to make the leap from draft writing to professional writing. The course will introduce students to the work that goes into deeply revising their writing for a public audience and will be especially suitable for students who want to pursue careers in fields that require writing samples or examples of polished writing as part of the job or internship application.

THE MINOR To meet the requirements for graduation as a Writing Minor a student must maintain an average of 2.0 in the required and elective work in Writing and complete the course sequence described in the box on this page. At least 12 credits in the minor must be completed at Queens College.

Justification: The English Department has been discussing creating a new writing minor for several years now because we saw a need for both our students and for some of our newly hired full-time faculty members.

On the student side, over the years many students have asked us whether we offer courses that can improve their writing or provide them with practice for the professional and/or critical writing skills they will need to pursue careers that require them to be strong writers. Increasingly, our work lives are mediated by writing, and this is especially true in jobs that are done online or through digital platforms. We see the writing minor as appealing to our English majors but also to majors in all fields from Computer Science to History. And because there are many students who find themselves done with their major and general education requirements but still in need of credits in order to graduate, the Writing Minor might appeal to them as a way to supplement whatever major they pursue.

On the faculty side, we have recently hired a number of tenure-track faculty members and lecturers with expertise in writing studies and professional writing. We also have several tenured faculty members with specializations in writing (from composition/ rhetoric to creative writing) who are eager to teach in the writing minor. All together, there are at least 15 faculty members who regularly teach—or would like to teach—various forms of writing. We also have many adjuncts with expertise in writing, either because they are professional writers as well as teachers or because they can bring in writing expertise from previous careers. And as you can see from the course list above, we also have an extensive list of courses that think about writing, practice writing, and introduce students to different kinds of writing.

9. Anthropology

a. New course.

Anthropology 236. Culture and Learning. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq.: Sophomore standing and English 110. This discussion-based seminar focuses on critically examining the concept of learning, as seen from an Anthropological perspective. Students will gain an understanding of learning as a dynamic, culturally-framed process by exploring examples of child socialization practices around the world and by considering the continuation of enculturation into adulthood in varied cultural contexts. Ethnographic writings and films will be discussed in order to explore the theoretical and practical processes of learning in childhood and beyond. In addition to regular reading responses on ethnographic material, longer written student projects will provide opportunities for building skills in critical thinking, analysis, synthesis, and research.

Justification:

Earlier versions of this course were taught under one of our topics course numbers, ANTH 239W (Special Topics in Cultural Anthropology) and were entitled “The Anthropology of Child Socialization.” As a successful course that serves as an elective for the Anthropology major and that could be offered regularly, it should have its own course number. We plan for this course to be offered yearly or at least once every other year.

b. New course

ANTH 282. Linguistic Subjectivities in Latin America. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq.: ANTH 104 or LCD 101, or permission of instructor. An exploration of the relationship between language and social life in Latin America through ethnographic work. Students will be introduced to some of the most important theoretical discussions in linguistic anthropology and to relevant ethnographic cases that illuminate those discussions. Ethnographic case studies will focus on Indigenous and Black communities and will be divided into the following geographical areas: Mexico and Central America, the Caribbean, the Andes and Amazonia, and finally Brazil and Venezuela.

Justification:

This course was developed collaboratively between the Anthropology (ANTH) Department and the Latin America and Latino Studies (LALS) Program with funding from an Andrew W. Mellon Foundation grant to the School of Social Sciences. The purpose of the course is to provide an additional regularly taught elective for students majoring in ANTH and/or in LALS. We plan for ANTH 282 to be taught annually by Professor Juan Luis Rodríguez Aponte.

10. Psychology

a. New course

PSYCH 375. Close Relationships. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Prereq: PSYCH 101, PSYCH 213W and PSYCH 232 or PSYCH 238. Theories and research in relationship processes. Topics will pertain to the initiation of relationships (e.g., attraction, first impressions), the development and maintenance of relationships (e.g., emotion regulation, love, intimacy, attachment, interdependence), the deterioration of relationships (e.g., conflict, violence), and the impact of relationships on health and well-being, among others.

Justification:

This course will diversify the current 300-level course offerings in the Psychology Department. Additionally, this course will introduce students to contemporary perspectives in the field of psychology. Students will benefit from the enhanced heterogeneity and new perspectives this course will provide. Moreover, this course integrates findings across a variety of fields (e.g., social, personality, development) focusing on relationships.

GCC Minutes Dated March 10, 2021

A. ITEMS FOR UNIVERSITY REPORT

1. FNES

a. Minor Change: Change in course title and description

FROM:

FNES 720. ~~Physiological Principles of Fitness & Training~~. 3 hr.; 3 cr. ~~Principles underlying specific fitness programs are examined within the framework of physiological adaptations to exercise and training.~~

TO:

FNES 720. Exercise Physiology. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Understanding mechanisms underlying exercise at the cellular, tissue, organ and system levels. Emphasis given on critically evaluating scientific studies in exercise science.

Justification: (1) Update course title and description: The original course title and description were written over 40 years ago. The new course title and description better reflect the content taught from current textbooks and the scientific literature. (2) The previous approach emphasized physiological principles related to exercise with little emphasis on discussing/critiquing peer-reviewed literature in exercise physiology. The minor change represents a shift to more advanced topics than just physiological principles. Also, the course will place more emphasis on discussing/critically evaluating scientific articles in the field. The title change reflects the advanced topics and the emphasis on scientific studies in the course.

2. FNES

b. Minor Change: Change in course title and course description

FROM:

FNES 722. ~~Exercise, Nutrition, and Weight Control~~. 3 hr.; 3 cr. ~~Interrelationships between exercise, nutrition, energy, metabolism, and weight control.~~

TO:

FNES 722. Exercise, Energy Balance, and Body Composition. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Interrelationships between exercise energetics, energy balance, and body composition.

Justification: After reviewing the materials included in FNES 722, the faculty committee felt that there was too much emphasis on nutrition concepts and principles which are covered in depth in other courses in the nutrition and exercise sciences program. The topics will shift from the broad coverage of nutrition to focus on the energy components of nutrition and exercise. Thus, this minor change represents the removal of some nutrition content and the addition of the application of exercise energetic principles through case studies and a case-study project.

The replacement of the terms nutrition and weight control with energy balance and body composition in the course title, best reflects the topics that have always been covered in the course including the analyses of body fat and muscle, and body-weight control and weight management from an exercise perspective.

3. FNES

c. Minor Change: Change in course prerequisite and corequisite and course description

FROM:

FNES 726. Internship in Adult Fitness and/ or Cardiac Rehabilitation. Hr. to be arranged; 3 cr. Prereq.: Completion of 24 cr. in the Exercise Science Program and/or permission of the instructor. In addition to regular seminar meetings on campus, the on-site hourly requirement varies according to the clinical nature of the internship program. This course will provide an in-depth, highly structured, practical experience in a formalized program dealing with fitness and health enhancement in healthy adult populations as well as populations involved in rehabilitative programs. The internship integrates the basic academic classroom and laboratory learning of the university setting and applies this knowledge to existing community, corporate, and/or clinically based programs. (~~Some internships are paid; some are not.~~)

TO:

FNES 726. Internship in Adult Fitness and/ or Cardiac Rehabilitation. Hr. to be arranged; 3 cr. Prereq.: Completion of 24 cr. in the Exercise Science Program, FNES 733, and/or permission of the instructor. In addition to regular seminar meetings on campus, the on-site hourly requirement varies according to the clinical nature of the internship program with the minimum requirement of 130 hrs. This course will provide an in-depth, highly structured, practical experience in a formalized program dealing with fitness and health enhancement in healthy adult populations as well as populations involved in rehabilitative programs. The internship integrates the basic academic classroom and laboratory learning of the university setting and applies this knowledge to existing community, corporate, and/or clinically based programs.

Justification: The change to the prerequisites to include FNES 733 is to ensure the student has the knowledge, skills and abilities needed to be successful in the internship experience. The inclusion of the total number of hours makes the student explicitly aware of the internship-hour requirement to complete the course.

4. FNES

d. New Course

FNES 729: Cardiovascular Disease, Electrocardiography and Stress Testing. 3 hr.; 3 cr.

Prerequisite Courses: None

Course Description: Study of the pathophysiology of common cardiovascular diseases and the fundamentals of electrocardiography with special emphasis on its application to exercise stress testing.

Projected Enrollment: 10-15

Projected Frequency: Once a year

Additional Costs: No. The applied physiology labs currently have all the equipment necessary to meet the needs of this course.

Justification: This course is designed to address the current needs of exercise scientists going to the field working with people with suspected or diagnosed cardiovascular disease (CVD). The course is required since exercise scientists in the clinical setting are expected to perform routine electrocardiograms and cardiovascular stress testing in order to determine the presence or absence of cardiovascular diseases. The course also expands on the pathophysiology of common CVDs, given that CVDs are still the number one reason for death in the United States. The course also addresses skills and abilities needed in order to apply for accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (CAAHEP). This accreditation is needed by 2027 in order for students of the exercise science program to sit for the ACSM Exercise Physiologist and Clinical Exercise Physiologist certifications.

5. FNES

e. New Course

FNES 733 Physical Activity, Health and Exercise Prescription I. 3 hr.; 3 cr.

Prerequisite: None

Course Description: Application of the current scientific evidence on exercise prescription for the improvement of cardiovascular function, musculoskeletal function and overall health. Understanding of the role of physical activity in chronic disease prevention and health promotion throughout the lifespan, including common methods used to evaluate physical activity. Health appraisal and risk assessment are included. In-depth study of program design principles for various special populations.

Projected Enrollment: 10 – 15 students

Projected Frequency: Once a year

Additional Costs: No. The applied physiology labs currently have all the equipment necessary to meet the needs of this course.

Justification: This course is designed to address the current needs of exercise scientists going to the field to work with healthy individuals, as well as various special populations. While other courses in the exercise science graduate program deal with physiologic responses and adaptations, laboratory techniques and research methodology, this course will address the application of the principles of exercise prescription. The course is also designed to be the first in a sequence of two courses dealing primarily with exercise prescription to improve overall health in a variety of populations. The course also addresses skills and abilities needed in order to apply for accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (CAAHEP). This accreditation is needed by 2027 in order for students of the exercise science program to sit for the ACSM Exercise Physiologist and Clinical Exercise Physiologist certifications.

6. FNES

f. New Course

FNES 734 Physical Activity, Health and Exercise Prescription II. 3hr.; 3 cr.

Prerequisite Courses: FNES 733

Course Description: Application of the current scientific evidence on exercise prescription and program design principles for the improvement of health in people with diseases and disorders of the neuromuscular system, immune system, musculoskeletal system, as well as those with chronic cardiovascular, respiratory and metabolic diseases. Exercise testing principles for each disease or disorder are included.

Projected Enrollment: 10 – 15 students

Projected Frequency: Once a year

Justification: This course will be the second in a sequence of two courses dealing primarily with exercise prescription to improve overall health in a variety of populations. The course is designed to address the current gap in knowledge of the graduate exercise science program on the use of exercise testing and prescription to improve overall health in people with cardiovascular, pulmonary, musculoskeletal, neurologic, immunological and neoplastic conditions. This knowledge is required as many graduate students are often hired in cardiac rehab and other clinical exercise programs dealing exclusively with people with chronic conditions and disorders. The course also addresses skills and abilities needed in order to apply for accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (CAAHEP). This accreditation is needed by 2027 in order for students of the exercise science program to sit for the ACSM Exercise Physiologist and Clinical Exercise Physiologist certifications.

7. MUSIC

g. New Program

2) Please give HEGIS number if known to you: 1004.10

3) Please indicate the precise location where the new requirements should appear in the Graduate Bulletin:

The section “Admission Requirements for the Master of Arts in Music (MA),” on page 215 of the 2020–2021 Graduate Bulletin, will be replaced by three sets of admission requirements: “Admission Requirements for the Master of Arts (MA) in Musicology”; “Admission Requirements for the Master of Arts (MA) in Music Theory”; and “Admission Requirements for the Master of Music (MM) in Composition.” This proposal addresses the Master of Music (MM) in Composition.

FROM:

Admission Requirements for the Master of Arts in Music (MA)

These requirements are in addition to the general requirements for admission, listed elsewhere in this Bulletin.

1. An undergraduate degree with a major in music (or its equivalent)
2. ~~Applicants apply in one of three areas of study: composition, theory, or musicology. Applicants should submit copies of recent work to Professor William Rothstein, Graduate Advisor, Music Building, as stipulated below:~~
  - ~~Composition: two or three recent works~~
  - ~~Theory: a recent paper and one or two examples of composition in eighteenth- or nineteenth-century style~~

Degree Requirements for the Master of Arts (MA)

These requirements are in addition to the general requirements for the Master of Arts degree, listed elsewhere in this Bulletin.

~~The MA in Music comprises three tracks, or majors: composition; theory; and musicology.~~ All MA students must complete 36 credits, including a culminating project (thesis) in the major area. The thesis is completed under the supervision of an advisor approved by the Graduate Advisor.

In addition to the required coursework (including the thesis), each candidate ~~for the MA degree~~ must pass all of the following exams prior to receiving the degree:

(a) The Theory Qualifying Exam, covering skills in music theory and general musicianship, is taken before a student registers for the first semester of study. Each of the examination's four parts (harmonization, sight singing, dictation, and keyboard harmony) must be passed before graduation. Those students who fail in any part of the exam will consult the Graduate Advisor for coursework or other recommended study.

(b) The History Qualifying Exam tests the student's knowledge of the history of Western music. This exam is also taken before a student registers for the first semester of study. Students who fail this exam will consult the Graduate Advisor for coursework or other recommended study.

~~(c) A reading proficiency examination in French, German, or Italian is required of all students majoring in theory or musicology. Composition majors may substitute an examination in foreign-language musical terms for the language examination.~~

~~Majors in composition are required to take MUSIC 729, 730, 731, 742, 784, 785, 789 (one semester), and three semesters of MUSIC 725.~~

Justification: The Aaron Copland School of Music is in the final stages of joining the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM), the only accrediting body for schools of music in the United States. To conform to NASM's degree model, they have asked us to separate the three tracks of our existing MA in Music into three discrete degree programs. We are submitting this proposal for two reasons: to conform to NASM's requirements, and to clarify our degree structure to prospective students and their teachers. This proposal represents a reorganization without any change in curriculum.

We are simultaneously submitting proposals for a Master of Arts in Music Theory and a Master of Music in Composition. Together, the three degrees will entirely replace our current Master of Arts in Music. Students already in that program will be allowed to complete it.

Our BA/MA program in music has been phased out, so we wish to delete the paragraph in the Graduate Bulletin that pertains to it.

MASTER OF ARTS IN MUSIC THEORY

Advisor: William Rothstein

Anson-Cartwright, Mark, Associate Professor, PhD 1998, City University of New York: music theory, Schenkerian analysis

Nitzberg, Roy, Lecturer, PhD 1999, City University of New York: music theory

MASTER OF MUSIC IN COMPOSITION

Advisor: Jeff Nichols

Nichols, Jeff W., Associate Professor, PhD 1990, Harvard University: composer

Saylor, Bruce S., Professor, PhD 1978, City University of New York: composer, composers' workshop

Schober, David, Associate Professor, PhD 2004, University of Michigan–Ann Arbor: music theory, composition

Smaldone, Edward, Professor, PhD 1986, City University of New York: composer

Justification: The Aaron Copland School of Music is in the final stages of joining the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM), the only accrediting body for schools of music in the United States. To conform to NASM's degree model, they have asked us to separate the three tracks of our existing MA in Music into three discrete degree programs. We are submitting this proposal for two reasons: to conform to NASM's requirements, and to clarify our degree structure to prospective students and their teachers. This proposal represents a reorganization without any change in curriculum.

We are simultaneously submitting proposals for a Master of Arts in Music Theory and a Master of Music in Composition. Together, the three degrees will entirely replace our current Master of Arts in Music. Students already in that program will be allowed to complete it.

Our BA/MA program in music has been phased out, so we wish to delete the paragraph in the Graduate Bulletin that pertains to it.

10. SEYS

j. Minor Change: Change in field work hours

FROM:

SEYS 575. Supervised Student Teaching I in Visual Arts I. 3 cr. Prereq.: Grade of B or higher in SEYS 533. ~~190–240 hr. 3–4 periods of daily participation or its equivalent for 15 weeks~~ in elementary or secondary school settings. Students will satisfy both elementary and secondary student-teaching placements in SEYS 575 (this course) and SEYS 576. The seminar course is for MAT and Post-Baccalaureate teacher candidates in the Art Education program during their school-based teaching experience that prepares them to teach Visual Arts in public schools. Students are expected to prepare ~~daily~~ lesson plans and will develop and maintain student teaching portfolios.

TO:

SEYS 575. Supervised Student Teaching I in Visual Arts I. 3 cr. Prereq.: Grade of B or higher in SEYS 533. 100 – 150 hours in an elementary or secondary school setting. Students will satisfy both elementary and secondary student-teaching placements in SEYS 575 (this course) and SEYS 576. The seminar course is for MAT and Post-Baccalaureate teacher candidates in the Art Education program during their school-based teaching experience that prepares them to teach Visual Arts in public schools. Students are expected to prepare lesson plans and will develop and maintain student teaching portfolios.

Justification: Currently Art Education students do two full semesters of student teaching. This proves to be a challenge for students in terms of completing other coursework and maintaining other responsibilities they have outside of school such as work or care-taking. Students in SEYS 575 (Student Teaching 1) will continue to have a high quality initial field experience that will prepare them for the more time intensive semester of Student Teaching 2. The reduced hours of the first semester of Student Teaching 1 aligns the Art Education program with the Initial Clinical Experience semester of the rest of the programs in Secondary Education. It will be a 10 week experience that will be more supported as students will work in pairs to develop and implement lessons. Because it is an elementary placement and art classes are typically held once a week, students will see a smaller range of classes, but be able to have an in-depth experience with the classes they do see. As it is their initial clinical experience it is appropriate to begin with a less time intensive, but comprehensive and well supported experience.
