Learn how to conduct great oral history interviews as a Queens Memory volunteer interviewer. This workshop will have a special focus on our Queens LGBTQ History project, but anyone interested in honing their interviewing skills is welcome! Queens Memory volunteers are working all over the borough to collect residents' stories and photos for safekeeping in the Queens Library digital archives. Learn how to prepare for an interview, how to ask good questions, make a high-quality recording, and how to submit your completed interview to the library. The training is free and open to all volunteers!
