

Baruch College CTL Presents:

Open-Source Digital Tools for Teaching

March 2022 Seminar

Overview

The Open-Source Digital Tools for Teaching seminar, hosted by the Baruch Center for Teaching and Learning, offers faculty an opportunity to discover and develop skills with technologies that will build engagement among students and faculty in and out of the classroom space. We'll discuss the affordances of openly-licensed and accessible digital platforms that diversify opportunities to learn. Faculty who are open to learning new digital tools are welcome to participate in the seminar and are eligible to earn a certificate of completion in one of two possible tracks.

Schedule

Introductory Session

Wednesday, March 9, 10 a.m.–12 p.m. (Online)

and

Track 1 Workshop: Tools for Faculty-Created Materials

Wednesday, March 16, 10 a.m.–12 p.m. (Online)

— — —or— — —

Track 2 Workshop: Tools for Student-Created Materials

Wednesday, March 23, 10 a.m.–12 p.m. (Online)

+ plus one additional lab hour with a facilitator-partner

All CUNY Faculty/Staff are welcome. Participants who fulfill these attendance requirements and who create an artifact demonstrating a working proficiency in the use of one or more open-source tools will receive a certificate of completion for the seminar. Participation is unpaid.

Please apply via this form by March 4 at 12 PM.

This seminar is supported by the CUNY Innovative Teaching Academy and the campuses' Centers for Teaching and Learning (CTLs). It is led by Baruch CTL staff members Shiraz Biggie, Seth Graves, Pamela Thielman, and Katherine Tsan.

For questions, please reach out to Katherine.Tsan@baruch.cuny.edu.